Russia does seek cooperation on Afghanistan, but only after ensuring that its imperial requirements - which can only promote greater instability across the region - come first. As General Charles Callwell ( Victorian England's leading theorist of small wars ) wrote, theory cannot be accepted as conclusive when practice points the other way. Indeed, it appears that for all its talk of cooperation, Moscow actually fears that the United States and NATO are losing and therefore seeks a hedge against that outcome. Thus when President Hamid Karzai of Afghanistan, sensing the loss of support for him in Washington, approached Moscow about arms sales to Afghanistan, Russia replied affirmatively but stipulated that there must first be a prior political agreement between the two governments and that NATO and Russia must resume their dialogue broken during...
