Haven't Any News: Ruby's Letters from the Fifties

By Edna Staebler

Wilfrid Laurier University Press. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Haven't Any News: Ruby's Letters from the Fifties, Edna Staebler, "Ruby wrote letters home almost every week. She wrote anything that came into her head: about her children and Fred, her housekeeping, food, clothes, her friends, activities, schemes for making money, her dreams for the future. Her letters, naive, intimate and lively, were always optimistic or poignant. We'd read them to each other on the phone or pass them around. Often we saved them." So writes Edna Staebler in her introduction to this edited collection of her sister Ruby's letters from the fifties. In 1957 when Edna first began to collect and edit these letters she did so simply because she was sure that others would enjoy reading them as much as her own family did. Over fifty years later, the letters remain a joy to read and reclaim the ordinary voice of a housewife. Remarkably, these letters echo themes academics want to isolate in order to analyze women's roles in the modern world -- drifting ("life just happened to me") and contingency ("women's lives depend on relationships"), for example, as well as the balance between family and work. As a fine...
